Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 11-27 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected group, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 10/18/04.

2. Applicant's election with traverse of group I in the reply filed on 10/18/04 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that Group II, claims 7-10, is an obvious process of making the device in group I, claims 1-6. Therefore, the examiner will examine claims 1-10 in this Office Action because claims 7-10 fall together with the device group I, claims 1-6, as stated.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-5, and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Suwa et al. (6,803,659).

As to claims 1 and 7, Suwa et al. (6,803,659) discloses a power plane (fig. 2) having a power pad (fig. 2) to receive a first terminal (fig. 2) of a circuit element (fig. 2); a ground pad (fig. 2) to receive a second terminal of a circuit element (fig. 2); a via area (fig. 2) substantially coplanar with the ground pad (fig. 2) from the ground pad, and electrically coupled to the ground pad (fig. 2); a ground plane (fig. 2); and a via (fig. 2) electrically coupled the via area (fig. 2) to the ground plane (fig. 2).

As to claim 2, the circuit element is a capacitor (fig. 2).

As to claims 3 and 8, the device has an interface to receive an IC (fig. 2).

As to claims 4 and 9, the device has an interface with a socket (fig. 2).

As to claim 5, the device has an interface with a circuit board (fig. 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 6 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Suwa et al. (Suwa), as applied to claim 1 and 7 above, in view of MacPherson et al. (5,929,627).

Suwa discloses the invention substantially as claimed. However, Suwa does not explicitly teach that the ground plane and power plane are substantially coplanar.

MacPherson teaches a device having a ground plane (figs 1-2) and a power plane (figs. 1-2) that are substantially coplanar.

Suwa and MacPherson are in the same field of mounting an electronic device on a circuit board.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of Suwa with the ground plane and the power plane being substantially coplanar, as taught by MacPherson, so as to provide a particular orientation with respect to the pads (MacPherson, col. 4, lines 43-45).
